Workshop19 is a project born after the Tunisian revolution. It is a work in progress.

Workshop19 will be a publishing house that tries to move with the times, in this time of upheaval

where all ideas
are shaken up

Workshop19 is a cross-border project. Based in Tunisia, it has a worldwide perspective and seeks a global audience

All boundaries
--
geographical, political

cultural or even mental

--
are disappearing
or at least in motion

Workshop19 will accordingly publish books and other products in French, in Arabic and in other languages

in partnership with publishers
and other projects around the world
, starting with the Mediterranean

It will provide a creative workshop

bringing together
artists
in all fields

and disseminating their work

Workshop19, because Article 19 of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, of December 10, 1948 has established
our path

Everyone has the right to freedom of opinion and expression; this right includes freedom to hold opinions without interference and to seek, receive and impart information and ideas through any media and regardless of frontiers.

Our program is under construction. In 2012-2013, we plan to publish six books. In subsequent years we expect to increase our annual production

We enthusiastically welcome any manuscript that is submitted to us and any proposal for partnership
